A CHINESE shopkeeper was charged before Mr Wodehouse to-day, at the instance of Inspector Hennessy, with selling samshu without a licence, and was fined $150. ABOUT sixty of the Pacific Mail steamer China's native crew were paid off here and new men were shipped in place of some of found most efficacious for cleansing and them, with the result that the dismissed purifying the Skin, and for preventing con-tagion from Fevers of all kinds, and conindulged in the usual Chlinese game, of take their places. One of the discharged men was brought before Mr Wodehouse toman who was engaged here, with an iron day, on remand, charged with assaulting a bar. The case was again remanded. GRAVE fears are entertained as to the safety of the small steamer Carmen, recently built by Messrs Fanwick & Co., which left and has not yet been heard of." It is supposed that she encountered the storm that was roging wein tathers China Sea in the end of last month, and unless she managed to run into some bar for shelter, there is not much hope of her turning up. There were on board five Spanish officers and about twenty Manila sailors. There is still no word of the Dubury with her 400 passengers. Ho Chun, who has been employed in the Hongkong Dispensary for the last six years as an assistant, was arrested on board the steamer Powan yesterday with a quantity of goods in his possession stolen from the Dispensary, amounting in value to $10. He was going off on a holiday when a Chipese constable, who has been keeping a special watch over some of the Chinese employes in the store, 'spotted' him, and on searching his bundle found the stolen articles. Mr J. S. Hagen, who identified the property, said such things had been pilfered exten. sively from the shop of late. He could not may exactly what the value of the articles stolen within the last half-year would amount to, but it was nearer $1,000 than $100. The prisoner was sentenced to six months hard labour.

Miss Ackerman, a delegate of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of America who has been on a lecturing cour lit Australis, addressed a meeting in the Wesleyan Mission Rooms last night on temperance. Rev. G. H. Bondfield presided, and the hall was crowded. Miss Ackerman, who was introduced by the chairman, delivered an interesting address, in which she spoke of the origin of the Women's Union and some of the good work it had been able to scoom plish in the cause of temperance. The address was listened to with great interest and at the close a cordial vote of thanks was passed to Miss Ackerman on the motion of Rev. T. Turner, seconded by Mr. Tarn, ... A good many of the audience signed the pledge. Miss Ackerman gives an address this evening in the hall of the Sailors Home, and will deliver another in the City Hall on Sunday evening.

THERE is evidently a want of big maps in the office of our morning contemporary. In support of his contontion that Peak residents cannot claim exemption from Peak rates because they pay rates in town he instances as analogous the case of a resident migrating from Calcutts to Simls claiming exemption in the latter place because he has also paid rates on his house in Calcutta. The writer avidently thinks that Simla is a sort of suburb of Calcutta, ruled by the same Government and the same Municipal. Council. Now, as every schoolboy cought. to know, Simia is more than eight hundred miles from Calcutte, and is not only outside of the province of Lower Bengal, of which Calcutta is the capital, but is outside the direct furisdiction of the British Government, being situated in a protected native state. The Calcutte Municipal Council ave absolutely no jurisdiction over Simla." the land there having been lessed or purchased from native chieftains. There is therefore no analogy possible, there being nothing similar in the cases,

Even the pleasant man ners and serious devotion to business of the Prince President, who was drawn the place so long occupied by Prince Kung, have not redeemed the Tsung-li Yamen. from the imputation of being an effete and an emergency in which the rulers of the country were at their with and. and, like the occupants of a vessel that has sprung a leak, were glad to seize the first wisp of straw that came to hand to stem the inrush of water which threatened to overwhelm them. The Toung li Yaman was not exactly forced on the Chinese by victorious invaders, but they created the necessity for som thing which had not existed in China before, and the Yamen was the readiest response the Chinese Government could make to the demand. An organic change had to be introduced in the government of this ancient empire, and, disregard ug the universal principle of him through a telephone in Lotadam. Whether the Chinese comprehended all that this enforced change implied may well be doubted, but whether they did or not, they felt that the man with the pistol in his hand was not to be reasoned with. It seems quite certain that the foreign representatives who decreed the revolution did not clearly understand what they were doing, and went further astray in estimating the consequences of their act than the Chinese themselves. But they had the big battalions, and their dicta had the effect for the time being of Imperial Edicts. They ruled that all the foreign affairs of China should be regulated in the capital between the Ministers of the Emperor and the Ministers of foreign states; also that all the questions arising out of the intercourse between foreigners and Chinese at the trading ports should equally be settled in Peking. The gunboat era was to be closed and the calm reason of the capital wa henceforth to quell the turb dent disputa tions of the provincial ports.
